Dear Customers,

You now also have to offer non-invasive treatments with Plasma Lifting and buy a device. But there is something very important to consider here, as more and more devices without specification of the manufacturer or non-compliance with EU laws flood the market.

When buying a device make sure that the following points are met:

1. For devices connected to the mains, a valid CE mark must be affixed to the device (stickers that can be removed are not permitted)
2. Devices which are operated via a lithium ion accumulator must not be advertised with a CE mark. The device works in the range of approx. 3.8 - 8 V thus in the low voltage range, which is subject to no CE duty. An attachment or application is a misleading of customers and not allowed by law.
3. If the device is powered by a lithium-ion battery and the charging is via a mains adapter, the power supply must be accompanied by an approved CE marking and declaration of conformity.
4. The manufacturer must clearly state the manufacturer (not a distributor) with all data and the device number. Not legal, if this is in any papers.
5. In an advertisement "Made in Germany" Attention. We are not aware of a device that can advertise as the electronics or the built-in microprocessors, capacitors and lithium-ion batteries, etc. come generally from Taiwan, Korea, above all Samsung.
6. You are safe, if the manufacturer in Europe (not a sales) sits and secured if he manufacturer according to product liability law (Federal Law Gazette I p. 2198) <https://www.gesetze-im-internet.de/prodhaftg/BJNR021980989.html> and meets all the requirements of the EU. Because if a damage is caused by a device (for example, material defect or inadequate execution), first of all the manufacturer's liability (if the manufacturer knows you is not a distributor) will take effect. However, for devices that do not meet the above requirements, especially those without markings (for example, TÜV, CE, etc.), it can lead to significant problems. If the manufacturer does not identify, is unavailable or no longer exists, this liability is transferred to you as a studio. This can be life-threatening and even come in the area of plasma lifting a criminal complaint. Therefore, keep your attention to the observance of points 1 - 6. Alone for the sake of your customers. They will thank you. For this is the only reason why your work distinguishes itself from some who do not value such things. Quality costs its price. And when working on the customer, the utmost care and safety should be used.

Your customers are also entitled to quality work and that includes the appropriate high-quality plasma lifting equipment.

We want you to continue to be a satisfied customer with us. That's why we keep informing you about such topics.
